Intermezzi for piano

Notes to the Performer:

- These pieces may be performed individually or in any other subconfiguration or reconfiguration as is useful.
- These pieces are very self-consciously romantic (sometimes hyper-romantic) in nature and can be treated accordingly in performance.
- These pieces work very carefully with voice-leading and bringing out and differentiating the contrapuntal layers is highly desirable. To this end, special attention has often been paid to dynamic differences between contrapuntal voices.

Program Note:

I have a strong love for 19th century repertoire. But as a composer, I generally avoid addressing this legacy head-on. It is an unforgiving and, to be truthful, overwhelming task. And perhaps it is the contrarian streak in a composers training that then compelled me to try to do just that in these pieces. These short works are not attempts at copying 19th century style. They are rather attempts to encounter it. In many ways these pieces are an oblique homage to Brahms. I admire so much his ability to create the beautiful dense forest of rich relationships in which every single note seems to pull upon the others, smoothly gliding through each transition with silently meshing gears invisible to the eye.

But one can not recreate Brahms, or at least I will not. These pieces are rather somewhere in between then and me....

...or perhaps they are really just a point of pause between then and wherever I may be going—intermezzi, which become momentarily audible and then disappear again into whatever will be next.

from Lyrical Intermezzo
by Heinrich Heine

On the wings of song far sweeping,
Heart's dearest, with me thou'lt go
Away where the Ganges is creeping;
Its loveliest garden I know—

A garden where roses are burning
In the moonlight all silent there;
Where the lotus-flowers are yearning
For their sister beloved and fair.

The violets titter, caressing,
Peeping up as the planets appear,
And the roses, their warm love confessing,
Whisper words, soft-perfumed, to each ear.

And, gracefully lurking or leaping,
The gentle gazelles come round:
While afar, deep rushing and sweeping,
The waves of the Ganges sound.

We'll lie there in slumber sinking
Neath the palm-trees by the stream,
Rapture and rest deep drinking,
Dreaming the happiest dream.

* * *

I see thee nightly in dreams, my sweet,
Thine eyes the old welcome making,
And I fling me down at thy dear feet
With the cry of a heart that is breaking.

Thou lookest at me in woful wise
With a smile so sad and holy,
And pearly tear-drops from thine eyes
Steal silently and slowly.

Whispering a word, thou lay'st on my hair
A wreath with sad cypress shotten;
awake, the wreath is no longer there,
And the word I have forgotten.

Intermezzo No.2

Serenly but impetuously lilting (♩=96)

rall. -----

The first system of the musical score consists of two staves. The upper staff is in treble clef, and the lower staff is in bass clef. The time signature is 3/4, which changes to 2/4 in the second measure. The key signature has one flat (B-flat). The first measure features a piano (p) dynamic in the treble and a pianissimo (pp) dynamic in the bass. The second measure has a mezzo-forte (mf) dynamic in the treble and a pianissimo (pp) dynamic in the bass. The third measure returns to a piano (p) dynamic in the treble and a piano (p) dynamic in the bass. The score includes several triplet markings (indicated by a '3' over the notes) and slurs. A 'Led.' (Ledger) marking is present below the first measure of the bass staff. A dashed line indicates a connection between the first and second measures of the bass staff.

(a tempo)

The second system of the musical score consists of two staves. The time signature is 3/4, which changes to 2/4 in the second measure. The key signature has one flat (B-flat). The first measure features a piano (p) dynamic in the treble and a piano (p) dynamic in the bass. The second measure has a mezzo-forte (mf) dynamic in the treble and a piano (p) dynamic in the bass. The third measure has a piano (p) dynamic in the treble and a piano (p) dynamic in the bass. The fourth measure has a mezzo-forte (mf) dynamic in the treble and a piano (p) dynamic in the bass. The score includes several triplet markings and slurs. A dashed line indicates a connection between the second and third measures of the bass staff.

A bit held back (♩=88)

The third system of the musical score consists of two staves. The time signature is 3/4, which changes to 2/4 in the second measure. The key signature has one flat (B-flat). The first measure features a pianissimo (pp) dynamic in the treble and a mezzo-forte (mf) dynamic in the bass. The second measure has a mezzo-forte (mf) dynamic in the treble and a mezzo-forte (mf) dynamic in the bass. The third measure has a mezzo-forte (mf) dynamic in the treble and a mezzo-forte (mf) dynamic in the bass. The fourth measure has a mezzo-forte (mf) dynamic in the treble and a piano (p) dynamic in the bass. The score includes several triplet markings and slurs. A 'mf espress.' marking is present in the first measure of the bass staff.

Intermezzo No.3

Grand, but holding back somewhat (♩ = 72)

Note spacing is intentionally somewhat proportional, illustrating fermatas & accelerandos. Triangular fermatas are short holds. Accelerandi with brackets last only for the duration of the bracket and then return to "a tempo."

Intermezzo No.4
